Miss King was a young girl with a sweet disposition, whom to know was to love, and in her departure the world has lost a sunbeam that will never be forgotten.

CONTEST IS WITHDRAWN

Leaving Mr. J. Will Clay Nominee for State Senator

Opposition in November Believed to Be Very Improbable.

As predicted in our last issue Hon. Rufus Hadden filed contest against Hon. J. Will Clay, late last Wednesday, and asked that he be declared the nominee for State Senator in this district. After thinking over the matter until Thursday morning, however, he concluded to withdraw the contest, which he then did, leaving Mr. Clay a clear title to the nomination. This obviated a long hard fought legal battle, with much cost, and in view of the fact that success was regarded as unlikely, his determination to "throw up the sponge" is generally regarded as a wise one.

Mr. Clay, our next Senator, is well-known to our readers and having served two terms as a member of the Legislature from this district, and being a man of wide experience and diversified business interests, is admirably equipped to discharge the duties of his new position.

Pendleton, a prominent attorney of Winchester, who has charge of the visiting class, made a strong address. Brother Clark welcomed the visitors in his usual gracious manner.

There were 243 men in the class room.

In the class of Trimble's Loyal Women, there were 135.

The total attendance was 532. The Christian Church was beautifully decorated by Florist Humphreys, of this city, and a very pleasing vocal solo was rendered by Miss Mattie Judy Botts. Lemonade was served to the entire school after adjournment.

Crowd Estimated at Between 15,000 and 25,000 People.

The farmers' barbecue given by Mr. Johnson N. Camden at his country estate, "Spring Hill" Wednesday, was a great three-cornered success. It was great in the size of the crowd; great in the quality of the addresses and last but not least, great in the abundance of food that awaited the thousands in attendance. It inaugurated a new era in agriculture in Kentucky, in the opinion of many who attended it.

The great crowd was scattered over a twenty-acre Blue Grass pasture and was variously estimated at from fifteen to twenty-five thousand. It was, of course, almost impossible to arrive at even an approximate figure but many men who have attended similar events for years said there were between fifteen and twenty thousand people on the grounds.

Numbers aside the crowd was one great moving picture, restlessly roaming from place to place, from one speakers' platform to the other, and from the place where burgoo was disposed to the big tent in which a long table was laden with viands.

Winchester Men Who Killed Negro Indicted.

Policeman Dan Insko and James H. King, of Winchester, have been indicted on a charge of second degree murder at Cincinnati. Last month an excursion was run by the L. & N. to Cincinnati. Insko and King with others were in the white coach waiting at the Fourth Street Depot, when Mose Holman, a negro, with several colored women, came into the coach. Insko directed him to go into the colored coach, but he refused. Later the colored porter forced the negroes into the colored coach in which they belonged.

Holman, it appears, was not satisfied with his treatment, and came back, using abusing language to Insko, and it is claimed attacked him, when Insko fired. In the scuffle which followed, Mr. King used a knife. After a short time, Holman died in a Cincinnati hospital, as a result of the pistol wounds, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury. The defense side has not been heard, but it is believed that when the case comes to trial, it will be shown that Insko and King were justified in doing what they did.

VOTE TRAFFIC.

A great deal is now appearing in the newspapers of the State on the subject of vote buying and selling. Practically all we have read regarding it is but a denunciation of the practice. None but a moral degenerate will take issue with any one on this point, but condemnation, without a remedy, accomplishes nothing. Under the existing law, it is practically impossible to convict, since the penalty attaches to both the buyer and seller.

Ordinarily, the buyer is a man of influence and with this one exception, is often a man of standing and character and as the proof must overcome several technical requirements, the chances of conviction, as the law now is, are extremely remote.

The practice is growing and if we are to maintain our republican form of government, it must be stopped and our judgment is that the law should be amended so as to guarantee immunity to the buyer. In this way it would be possible to permanently remove the sellers from participation in elections by disfranchisement, while if you disfranchise the buyers, the sellers remain to create a new set of buyers. We are aware that many entertain the belief that the buyer is as bad as the seller and we are not prepared to deny this, yet in view of the fact that if we have no sellers, we will have no buyers and if we want to surely convict one, we must protect the other, as a witness, we believe it would be better to exempt the buyer and we would be glad to see the law thus amended, given a trial.

Whenever you hear a man knocking the proposition to have a commission plan of government for the county, it is a ten to one shot that if you examine the recently published financial statement of the county you will find his name among those who have drawn sums from either the turnpike or pauper funds. They do not relish the idea of being separated from the feed box, or in other words, the county treasury, to which they have had access so long.

If any one doubts that our own big Ollie is the President's right hand man, he should read the latter's recent utterance:

"Congress is acting splendidly. Of course now and then one or two go off the reservation, and then we send out that old bull, Ollie James, and he brings them right back."

THAT YELLOW LABEL.

Don't forget to watch that yellow label on your paper, and if in arrears, please call and settle.

Here's hoping Thaw may win his fight for liberty.

Expect J. W. Clay To Be One of Leaders.

W. S. Kallenbach writes in the Louisville Times:
J. Will Clay, of Mt. Sterling, will have a clear field for State Senator in the Twenty-eighth district, Bourbon, Clark and Montgomery counties, although he won the Democratic nomination only by the scant margin of seven votes. His opponent for the nomination, has determined not to contest, and the Republicans and Bull Moose failed to make nominations for State Senator in that district, giving the Democratic candidate a walkover. Mr. Clay is expected to be one of the leaders of the upper branch of the next General Assembly.

Aged Kentucky Jurist is Dead.

Judge Thomas Z. Morrow died at the home of his son, W. Boyd Morrow, Monday morning after an illness of several weeks. He will be buried in the Somerset cemetery Wednesday. He was past seventy-eight years of age and was one of the oldest jurists in the State. For a half century he was one of the prominent figures in the political world of Southeastern Kentucky, having been the Republican nominee for Governor against Gov. J. Proctor Knott in 1883, the two making their campaign together, most of the time either in a buggy or on horseback. They were warm personal friends and the campaign was remarkable for its utter lack of billingsgate or acrimony.

Winchester Court.

On the live stock markets, Hamilton Stock yards reported about 1200 cattle on the market, with good feeders selling at 6 to 6½c and fat yearlings at 6c. The trade was not as brisk as was expected in the cattle line. Sheep were dull, with about 500 on the market and $5 being asked for stockers and 3c per pound for fat sheep. There were no hogs offered. At the Central Yards about 300 cattle were on the market and the same prices prevailing. Cattle seem to be higher than in many years at this time of the year. Many farmers are holding for 9c on exporters, believing the market will reach that point within the next few weeks. It seems as if the prediction may be right, from the way the price for feeders looked Monday. —Winchester Democrat.

Three Foreign Countries to Support Efforts of U. S.

Great Britain, France and Japan are understood to be among the nations which interposed their influences upon the Huerta administration in Mexico in support of the efforts of the United States to bring about a peaceful settlement of the revolution. President Wilson completed his message setting forth the attitude of the United States, were to have been read to Congress Tuesday, it is stated, unless developments in Mexico indicate that Huerta is ready to accept the proposal already made.

Work Progressing Slowly.

Many complaints are being made by residents of Maysville street over the manner in which the work of improving that street is progressing. They assert that much ideal working weather is being wasted, greatly to the public's inconvenience, and that the work, if done in bad weather, will not be as satisfactory as if completed now. It is thought that the attention of the City Council will be called to the facts at its next meeting.

The arrival of William T. Jerome at Sherbrooke, Que., to look after New York's side of the case, the assumption of former Gov. Stone, of Pennsylvania, of the position of spokesman for the Thaw family, and the injection of talk of developments of international aspects, are the features of the Thaw case up to date.

CHARLES II. WORE FIRST HAT

Custom Established Five Hundred Years Ago Following Victory of French at Rouen.

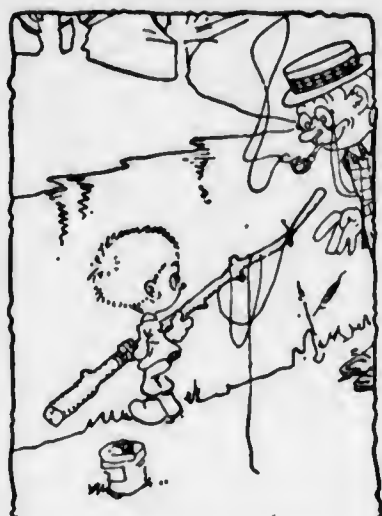

Once in a while we do seem to come across something which ancient people did not possess. Hats apparently figure among this number.

For hats, we are told, did not become a well-established custom until some 500 years ago. In the year 1449, when Charles II. entered Rouen after its recapture by the French from the English, the people there had never before set eyes on a hat. Their amazement, therefore, can be pictured as they gazed upon their king riding past them in pomp and on his head a gorgeous hat lined with varicolored silk and gayly bedecked with huge plumes.

Of course everyone followed his example. Hats began to make their appearance in shop windows and women and men alike labored over the constructing of elaborate headpieces, each one attempting to surpass his neighbor if possible. But they were expensive and it was a long time before they could be worn except by the prosperous classes.

In the course of time, however, they became a more commonplace thing and people of all classes were able to afford them.

"Not a drop, ma'am," replied Red Nose Mike.

UNTIMELY INTERRUPTION.

"Is that you, Harry? Say, you remember what you asked me last evening? Well, I have been thinking it over, and—"

"Drop a nickel, please."

A COMMON FEAT.

"Maybe not, but you ought to see how they can make spirits disappear."

JOHNNY GREEN WILL FLY AGAIN AT CHATTANOOGA

Green's Cardui Flyer

Chattanooga, August 27.—(Special)—The Chairman of the Grand Army Entertainment Committee, has closed a contract with Johnny Green, famous Cardui birdman and waterfowl, to make three flights in Chattanooga during the G. A. R. Reunion, to be held in Chattanooga, September 15-20.

Green is the man who made the record flight in Cardui Flyer No. 1 over Lookout Mountain during the U. C. V. Reunion last May. He was the first man to attempt that dangerous flight, refused by so many other prominent aviators. A feature of his exhibition next month will be a flight in his Cardui Flyer No. 2, equipped with hydroplanes, up the Tennessee River. This will be the first hydroplane flight ever made by any Southern aviator.

Visitors to the G. A. R. Reunion will do well not to miss these flights by the aviator, free to all, and should look out for the dollar bills, which he drops among the crowds below, as he goes hurtling through the air.

Kentucky Tuberculosis Commission.

In Henderson the other day a man and his wife walking along a quiet street observed a man lying flat on the sidewalk by the curb. They inferred that he was drunk and walked around him, commenting on the disgrace to the city of having drunken men sprawled in midday on the streets.

That evening the woman was telling the story to an acquaintance together with a description of the apparent victim of "John Barleycorn."

"Drunk nothing," her friend replied. "Why, that is only Mr. Blank. I supposed everybody knew about him. He is dying with consumption. He does his best to keep up and walks around the streets as much as he can, but every little while he gets so weak he can go no further and lies down on the sidewalk to wait for his strength to return."

This is an extreme case of something that happens almost every day. This man, like numbers of others, is a distinct menace to the community. Un-cared for, probably ignorant, he is spreading infection not only on the streets but in the stores and houses and every other place he enters.

If a case of consumption is properly cared for in the final stages, there is no necessity for other cases to follow. Most consumptives, however, cannot be properly cared for in their own homes. County hospitals, built in accordance with the law creating the State Tuberculosis Commission and maintained by the county to care for these sufferers, is the obvious and not extremely expensive way of meeting the situation.

Real virtue is a lovely flower that blooms where no eye but heaven sees its loveliness.

STATE FAIR TO BE GREAT SHOW

Many Big Features Booked for Kentucky's Annual Display.

TO BE HELD IN SEPTEMBER

Products of the Field, Forest, Mine and Workshop With Rare Specimens of Cultivated Plants and Works of Art, Combine to Make Display at Louisville an Educational Event of the South.

The greatest agricultural, live stock and educational event in the south is the Kentucky State Fair, the eleventh annual celebration of which will be held in Louisville, Sept. 15-20 next, during the most beautiful and alluring season of the entire year.

At this exhibition will be shown products of the mine, the forest, the workshop and the factory, and the rarest examples of cultivated flowers, plants, art work, needle work, county school exhibits, a model dairy, and many other entertaining and instructive features.

The prize list of $35,000 is a very enticing feature, but even more momentous as a consideration to exhibitors is the distinction of an award from the Kentucky State Fair. The sentimental and exploiting value of such an award has grown until it is one of the most coveted possessions to those who may be described as professional exhibitors in the country's largest agricultural shows. It is not possible to estimate the prestige and distinction associated with a prize from the state fair of a commonwealth recognized as the home of the horse world, as the foremost live stock state, and as an agricultural community with few superiors in the Union.

The horse, always a predominant figure in a Kentucky live stock show, stands at the head of the prize list. The magnificent $100,000 live stock pavilion horses are exhibited in the mornings and afternoons, and at night, in the glow and radiance of myriads of electric lights, the world's greatest horse show is held.

The new features introduced for the year's fair will include the Kentucky State Fair Futurity for saddle bred foals of 1913, an event equal in importance and dignity to the great racing futurities on the thoroughbred and trotting turf.

The Commissioner of Agriculture Saddle Horse Stakes, the star attraction of the fair for several years past, and which has always been regarded as America's leading saddle horse event, has been increased from $1,000 to $2,000, and unless all indications fail it will be the greatest ring of saddle horses ever paraded before a horse-loving public.

In addition to these there are three special saddle horse stakes, nominations to which closed April 15, with the most creditable list of entrants that has ever been recorded for a like event. Horse racing, always attractive and pleasing to the fair-going public, will be on a bigger scale than ever before. Recognizing the popularity of this sport as well as the value of the horse-breeding branch, it represents the state fair management has offered four $1,000 stakes for this year's meeting. There will be fourteen other harness events and two or three running races every day. As the fair precedes the fall race meet at Douglas Park, some of the crack runners in training at the local tracks will doubtless compete in these races.

Commissioner J. W. Newman, chairman of the state fair board, has introduced his pet hobby in a scientific Baby Show, which, instead of being a sideshow or amusement, as some have characterized like exhibits at the county fairs, will be a genuinely instructive and progressive movement toward a systematized study of baby eugenics. The idea is one which is rapidly growing in popularity throughout the country, and its importance was emphatically demonstrated at the Iowa State Fair last year.

NOVEL FEATURES ON STATE FAIR PROGRAM

Visitors Are Assured of Pleasing Entertainment.

Some of the free acts and amusement features engaged for this year at Kentucky State Fair, Sept. 15-20, are the famous Rudolph Berliner First Cavalry Mounted Band of 35 men, who are all members of the American Federation of Music, master horsemen and experts in military maneuvers. They will give stirring military concerts, parades, drills and army evolutions on horseback, and promise the most unique as well as sensational and picturesque attraction ever offered at the fair.

The Falling Tower is another big novelty and one warranted to set the nerves of the spectators to tingling with excitement. The performer in this act mounts to the top of a swaying ladder reaching 100 feet in the air and, making a gigantic half circle as the ladder falls, he leaps through space into a tank of water placed 150 feet from the pinnacle of the tower as it stands upright.

Oscar Babcock in his loop-the-loop sensation on a bicycle is another half-raiser. Babcock flying through a looped flume across space and onto a platform seated on a bicycle that somersaults with him in mid-space.

An act that is pretty as well as thrilling will be offered by the Diving Quinceys, Margaret and Thomas, who leap from platforms 110 feet high into a shallow tank of water, where they perform remarkable aquatic feats. There will be other free attractions too numerous to mention, but sufficient to give visitors to the fair a constant round of novel and attractive entertainment.

Berliner's Famous Mounted Cavalry band will furnish music at the Kentucky State Fair, Louisville, Sept. 15-20.

Lives of Many Persons Blighted by Thaw Curse.

It may be said that a train of blighted lives has attended what Evelyn Nesbit terms the "Thaw curse" since Harry K. Thaw broke into the limelight as a savior of chorus maidens, and especially have those disasters been pronounced since the night in June, 1906, when Stanford White was killed. Here are some of the victims:

Stanford White, world-famous architect and art connoisseur, slain; his memory trailed in dust as he was shown to be libertine and leader of "men about town" who maintained "studios" where young girls were ruined.

Some of "original Floradora" girls' reputations ruined at trial and they were compelled to leave legitimate stage.

Daniel O'Reilly, noted and honored New York attorney, Thaw's lawyer; disbarred and sentenced to prison.

Clifford W. Hartridge, another famous attorney, accused of bribing witnesses in Thaw case before New York Bar Association; reputation injured and business hurt.

John N. Anhut, accused of attempting to bribe Matcawan officials to allow Thaw to escape, convicted and sentenced to prison.

Governor William Sulzer, Alfred Lewis and William A. Clark, mentioned unfavorably in the trial because of alleged connection with the attempted bribery.

Dr. John R. Russel, accused by Thaw of having demanded bribe to allow him to escape from asylum; scandal resulted in resignation of Dr. Russel.

"Pom Pom" Evelyn Nesbit's child, whose parentage is denied by Thaw.

In addition to these, many of the lawyers, examiners and others connected with the case suffered business troubles after the trial.

Howard H. Barnum, trusted employee at Matcawan, under suspicion of conniving to permit Thaw's dash to liberty, and in Poughkeepsie jail.

Mrs. William Thaw, heavy financial sacrifices to pay expenses of trials and insanity hearings amounting to over $1,000,000, not including another million which various lawyers have claimed, and in contest over which charges of greed and graft have been made.

They who can weep can wait for justification, for there is relief in tears, but the inward bleeding of a tearless woe is fatal. The soul is a blossom and where flowers wilt for want of water the soul dies too.

Pennsylvania and Kentucky.

"The organization of the Pennsylvania Good Roads Federation, which was effected at Harrisburg on Thursday, is timely. The people of the State at the coming election will vote upon a proposed amendment to the Constitution authorizing a bond issue of $50,000,000, the money to be devoted to road improvement, and it is now a live question.

"The new organization, which at the outset strongly indicates its purpose to support the amendment, can do much to secure its adoption. There is no longer any visible opposition to the construction of improved roads, as there was a few years ago under the old system, which put all the expense upon the localities. Some of them thought that they could not bear the burden, and as a result roads were endured that were not only discreditable, but were costly to those who had to use them.

"But argument in behalf of good roads is no longer needed. The sections of improved highway that have been constructed in different parts of the State in the past few years have been an impressive object lesson. Farmers and others who were so long indifferent to the character of the public roads have seen the advantage of having them made what they should be. They have discovered that good roads enable them to carry larger loads at less wear and tear to horses and vehicles, and it is no longer an objection that automobilists are favored by good roads, because a very large portion of farmers have automobiles themselves now."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

In 1909 an amendment to the Constitution of Kentucky was adopted, authorizing the granting of State aid in the building of public roads. Two General Assemblies have been convened and adjourned since that amendment was adopted and the amendment remains a dead letter. Incidentally there has been no building of good roads in Kentucky in the interim. The reason thereof is one and the same with that which has led to the proposed constitutional amendment in Pennsylvania. "Localities" in Kentucky as well as Pennsylvania have refused to bear the burden of expense of road-building. With more than two-thirds of Kentucky's counties pauper, this refusal is easily to be understood. Local taxation has proved insufficient. Every attempt to vote a county issue of bonds has been defeated.

If good roads are to be built in Kentucky—and the Good Master knows there is need of them—the power, which Pennsylvania seeks by a constitutional amendment and which has existed in Kentucky since 1909, must be exercised.

Kentucky is four years in advance of Pennsylvania in recognizing the necessity of State aid, but, unless the next General Assembly develops a larger wisdom than its two immediate predecessors, Pennsylvania will lead and Kentucky follow in the actual working out of a problem common to both.—Louisville Times.

Diggs Convicted by Federal Jury.

In eloping with Marsha Warrington from Sacramento to Reno, Maury, I. Diggs was guilty of violating the Mann act, which makes it a felony to transport women for immoral purposes from one State to another. This was the verdict of the jury that tried him. Five years in the Federal penitentiary is the maximum penalty.

There were six counts in the indictment and the jury found a verdict of guilty on four. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years and a minimum of one year in the Federal prison.

Men are like fishes in all that go with the tide are bad ones, and those endured with life are all headed up stream and working hard against adverse circumstances.

Clothes that Do Not

Fit Latest Thing Out.

The net result of the fight of fashions in Paris at the close of the season is to wear a dress that does not fit. The chief thing insisted upon is that the folds be artistic.

With this exception, one might take a sack open at both ends, cut a couple of holes for the arms to come through, tie a string or a colored sash round the waist, pull the sack well up over the sash so that it stands well away from the body, and have thereby the dress of today.

As a contrast to this, the lower part of the dress should be well drawn round the legs and it should be open in front nearly to the knees.

This fashion admits the extraordinary embellishments of silken hosiery. Stockings lend themselves particularly to all sorts of designs; serpents are embroidered in vari-colored jewels and entwined round the ankles.

Some fair wearers prefer butterflies displayed in front of the leg just below the knee. Lizards with jeweled eyes are also frequently introduced. Ladies of the superstitious idea that cockroaches bring luck, have some of these pests beautifully outlined on their hosiery.

In not a few cases lace plays the leading role in the toilette. Many of the white gowns are draped with priceless black Chantilly lace. Shawls and flounces form the whole of the top part of the bodices. Sleeves are left quite transparent.

When black and white is not chosen, delicate rose pink chiffon with filmy ecru lace seems to be favored. Several of the white charmeuse gowns are made in such a manner that they give the wearers rather the appearance of jockeys.

There is a simple as well as an eccentric tendency in the latest modes for hat trimming. Crystal pendants hang in front. These ornaments are exactly the same as those used in the ordinary chandeliers.

One of these freakish creations of white pique and green worsted braid has just one small white Java sparrow standing up in front with its claws holding on to the crown.

Fertilizes Corn When Knee High.

(T. W. Jones in Southern Farming.)

My Soil is light and sandy, with a yellow clay subsoil. Now this means an ordinary thin, sandy land, where commercial fertilizers are depended upon entirely for any success with corn planted. Corn should not be made, and will not be made this way as soon as we get educated to rotation, planting legumes and raising more live stock. I made 200 bushels last year on four acres, on which I applied $10 worth of fertilizer per acre. With unfavorable weather, I will make some corn this way, whereas planted thick enough for 100 bushels, with a drouth or extreme wet spell, a total failure is possible and $40 wasted on fertilizers.

As early as December, things right, I break my land for corn, with two-horse plow, deep as possible, by laying off rows 5 feet wide with middle buster and bedding. I harrow it during the winter if I get a chance, and the early part of March I throw two furrows into the water furrow with single turn plow, making a low, flat seed bed below the level, leaving a high balk between.

I usually plant then as soon as I get a rain and the ground gets dry enough, using a planter behind a small harrow; the planter opening, dropping and covering at one going. No fertilizer as yet. I side harrow, or sweep it if necessary to keep weeds down, once or twice until it is knee high, and thin to one stalk 18 inches apart. Not much thinning is needed, and this is done two rows at a time with the hand.

When between knee and hip high, I apply 300 pounds of home-mixed fertilizer, equal parts, cottonseed meal, kainit and acid phosphate, per acre, on one side of each row, and plow, applying the same amount at the next plowing on the other side, and at intervals of about 10 days, it is plowed very shallow out and out with a cultivator until laid by.

In love's natural conflict we know not which to pity most, the victor or the victim.

Farm for Sale.

Southern Indiana is rapidly coming to the fore as a tobacco producing country. We have 240 acres in the heart of this new tobacco country, which we bought for the timber two years ago and are ready to sell cheap. Land is rolling—30 acres good bottom land—50 acres new ground—timber removed two years—9 acres of tobacco now on farm as an experiment and shows up fine—70 acres in corn—27 acres in clover. 4 room log house and 2 room frame house and 2 barns 30x60 with metal roofs on the place. Creek passes through the land. All of land will grow good tobacco. Located 5 miles from Batesville. Price $35.00 per acre. Part cash, balance easy payments. Call or write, The Hillenbrand Co. 7-2t. Batesville, Ind.

We cannot look, however imperfectly, upon a great man, without gaining something by him. He is the living life-fountain, which it is good and pleasant to be near; the light which has enlightened the darkness of the world; and this is the kindling lamp only, but rather as a natural luminary, shining by the gift of heaven; a flowing light-fountain, as I say, of native original insight, of manhood heroic nobleness, in whose radiance all souls feel that it is well with them.

City Property For Sale.

My property on Richmond ave. is for sale. House contains six large rooms, kitchen, bath room and large back porch. Gas for fuel and lights; waterworks. Large barn, corn crib, meat house, hen houses, etc. About two acres of ground and a fine garden. Plenty of grass to pasture cow or horse. Will trade for property closer down town. C. B. STEPHENS, Phone 603. at Advocate office.

Wisdom doesn't remain long in any settlement, because nobody will get acquainted with her.

Stop that waste

THE stalks and trunks from your corn crop represent just so much life taken out of your soil. If you do not use them for feed and return them to the ground in the form of fertilizer you are getting poorer every year. If your fields and barn yard are littered with stalks and your ground is growing less fertile season after season you need an

It will convert all your corn from the ground feed to the tassels, into fresh, succulent feed and it will keep your cattle in prime condition all year round. Best of all—it will pay for itself out of what it saves for you in a single season. There will be another winter before long, with high priced feed and hard work in zero weather. Why not get ready for it by erecting an Indiana Silo before next harvest time.

BRILLIANT MIDWAY

Kentucky State Fair Secures Shows Free From Offensive Attractions.

A clean, live, brisk and brilliant midway is assured the Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville Sept. 15-20, in the booking of the mammoth Johnny J. Jones exposition aggregation, which consists of 15 of the greatest side show and open-air attractions in the country, and is of a size, completeness and class requiring no less than 25 double length cars of 70-foot steel to transport it.

The Midway attractions from start to finish are of a character that will appeal irresistibly to young and old alike, and will offer a riot of fun to any and all who visit within its precincts, but it is the undeviating rule of State Fair officials that nothing even bordering on the offensive be permitted in these shows, and parents may rest assured of the fact that children of the tenderest age may freely visit any and all of the shows listed under the Johnny J. Jones banner.

BERKSHIRE CONGRESS AT THE STATE FAIR

Kentucky Given Recognition by National Association.

As an example of the repute won by the constantly enlarged and improved Kentucky State Fair celebration may be mentioned the fact that Kentucky has captured the American Berkshire show for 1913, and this exhibition will be held at the fair grounds in Louisville during the coming celebration.

The National Berkshire exhibition is authorized by the American Berkshire Record association and is an event held from year to year at some leading state fair, the location being selected with a view to most generally benefitting the Berkshire breed, and it is a decidedly pleasing feather in the cap of Kentuckians that Kentucky was voted the next congress in preference to Illinois, which has heretofore ranked as the state pre-eminent in advantages to the showing of swine of all breeds and of all classes in particular. In fact, Chicago has always been regarded as mecca for the great swine herds of the country.

The prizes offered in the Berkshire contest total up to $1,400, the sum of $600 having been contributed by the American Berkshire association, the like amount by the Kentucky State Fair management, while the balance was donated by those interested in the development of the Berkshire hog. All the leading Berkshire show herds of the country will enter for exhibition and there will be two beautiful trophies offered by the American Berkshire association, one for Kentucky exhibitors and one open to the world. For years the association trophy has been a much coveted honor among exhibitors at the leading fairs and shows of the country, and it is a foregone conclusion that the prominence of Kentucky as a live stock state and the extensiveness of the Fair exhibition will key the interest in this handsome prize up to the very highest tension.

There will be nine ribbons offered in each class and the premium money is so distributed that the exhibitor with only a few good hogs is assured of making his expenses.

The Berkshire Congress and Swine Show will be held in the beautiful new judging pavilion erected last year, the building being a model of convenience and perfect arrangement. It affords every advantage to exhibitor and spectator alike, and it is expected that loyal followers of the Berkshire will flock from every part of the United States to do homage to this peerless breed.

Both in point of numbers as well as in general excellence it is expected that the Berkshire congress at the coming Kentucky State Fair will excel the exhibits of the great international Exposition in Chicago.

There will also be splendid classes of Poland Chinas, Duroc Jerseys, Tamworths and Hampshire hogs in addition to the Berkshire exhibits.

STARS OF THE TRACK

To Complete In Racing Events at Kentucky State Fair.

The eleventh annual Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville next Sept. 15-20, promises a celebration of a magnitude, excellence and general interest that has never heretofore been eclipsed by a like event, and no phase of the fair will offer a more universal attraction than the racing program which has been arranged.

The early closing events for trotters and pacers, entries for which closed May 15, includes the unprecedented enlistment of 126 contestants, a roster which is fully 40 per cent larger than any heretofore recorded and which, it is said, numbers some of the classic examples of horse flesh the country can boast.

There are a half dozen stakes for which these horses will compete, the first two being $500 trotting events for two and three-year-olds, and the remainder $1,000 stakes for 2:11 and 2:20 pacers and 2:14 and 2:20 trotters. In addition to the trotting and pacing events, the fair will offer daily running races, with entries including some of the classiest and speediest horse flesh then stabling at the Douglas Park track in preparation for the fall race meet, which immediately follows the week of the State fair.

Feature of Closing Day.

The feature of paramount interest on the closing day of the fair will be the Gentlemen's Cup race. The Brewster's Association has donated a silver cup as trophy to the winner of this race.

Entries for the purse races for trotters and pacers will not close until a week prior to the opening of the fair. The purses for these events are $500 each, evenly divided among the trotters and pacers. The list will include 2:12, 2:16, 2:18 and 2:24 trotters and 2:12, 2:14, 2:18 and a free-for-all in the pacing class.

The entire track program for the coming fair has been arranged with a view to variety, and lovers of good, clean sport and of royally-bred animals may anticipate one of the most pretentious exhibitions in the history of the state.

The Kentucky State Fair track is rated as one of the finest ever laid, and the recently enlarged grand stand offers an ideal mecca for sociability, as well as sporting recreation.

WHAT BECOMES OF WATCHES?

Statistics Do Not Show Ultimate Disposition of Discarded Timepieces.

What becomes of the watches? The average man does not buy more than about two or three watches in the course of his whole life, and yet the manufacturers keep on making new watches by the hundred thousand. Who buys them all?

No statistics can answer the question, What becomes of the old watches? What did you do with the one you discarded when you got your present watch? Where is it now? It was a silver watch and it kept good time for years—that old watch, that predecessor of the gold watch that you now possess. You had a strong affection for it. You called it "she," and sometimes, in the solitude of your room, you may have caught yourself saying a word or two to it aloud. The watch certainly talked to you in the middle of the night; Heine's watch conjugated Hebrew by the hour. The old watch had a kind of a ringing tick like a riveting machine, and you could hear it clear through the pillow. It has sung you to sleep more than once. But let's see—what in heaven's name became of it?

HAS ODD METHOD OF SAVING

Settlement Worker Has Rude Awakening When Follower Tells How He Provided Nest Egg.

A certain New York settlement worker is very great on saving. He preaches it continually among those he visits. He tries to instill into them that the very smallest sum put away regularly becomes a decent nest egg. Calling on a man who had just obtained a better job than he had ever had before, our friend said: "Now, Jones, you should think of saving. Put something away every week. Don't spend all you get."

"Indeed, sir, I don't. I have made it a rule since I got this job never to spend more than two-thirds of my wages."

"That's fine," said our friend, glad that his talking had borne some fruit. "Now in what savings bank are you putting the rest?"

"Oh, the rest. I give that to Liza to keep the house on."

"WHAT AILS THE PEWS?"

Ask the man who thinks the clergy should "speak out" just how long he thinks a preacher would hold his pulpit if he persisted in telling the truth about unpleasant subjects. How many preachers will remain silent once their congregations encourage them to talk out? Very few. This charge, like all other general charges of the kind, comes back at last directly to the people. Public opinion rules now and always and everywhere. If the pulpit keeps silence on any great public theme, it is for this one reason alone; the public does not encourage its discussion, and stands ready to resent activity along that line.

Before we condemn the preacher let us ask what ails the pews.

EXCEPTION TO THE RULE.

Briggs—They say that "two heads are better than one."

Griggs—That's all a mistake. Both my wife and I want to be head of the house and it doesn't work at all.

INSANITY IN FAMILY.

"My uncle is crazy to spend his money the way he is spending it!"

"Are you sure you are not crazy to spend it the way you'd like to spend it?"

LUCKY HORSESHOES.

She—Do you believe in horse-shoes as an emblem of luck?

He—Yes, if they are on the winning horse.

TOO BAD.

Waiter—The egg? Why, wasn't it boiled long enough, sir?

Guest—Yes. The trouble was it wasn't boiled soon enough.

NATURALLY.

"There is a dark feature in your future."

"Of course there is, when I am going to marry a brunette."

HIS STATUS.

"Keep away from that mineral king. He's dangerous."

"What's dangerous about him?"

"Isn't he a copper head?"

Glynn Has Best of Case So Far.

The close of the second week of the rival Governors at the Capitol finds Acting Governor Martin H. Glynn, of New York, in practical possession of most of the machinery of the State, so far as surface indications go.

Mr. Glynn has adhered rigidly to his program of quietly isolating Gov. Sulzer. He has made no spectacular attack upon the Sulzer fortress, but all the while has been entrenching himself steadily behind the legal ramparts furnished by the Attorney General's office by means of which some of those in the State department avowedly and others tacitly have acknowledged allegiance to his authority.

According to the Glynn adherents, the State prison department is the only wheel that is turning openly for Sulzer. So careful has he been to avoid anything savoring of a physical contest or which might precipitate an appeal to the courts, that he has failed to carry out his announced intention of requisitioning members of the gubernatorial clerical staff continuing in the service of Sulzer. He has also declined to press to an issue the contest of the delivery of the mail addressed impersonally to "Governor."

Sulzer continues to observe the silence which has followed his impeachment.

Sulzer's Friend Seeks To Indict Tammany Heads.

The indictment of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall; Aaron J. Levy, leader of the Democratic majority in the Assembly, and Senator James J. Frawley, chairman of the committee which investigated Gov. Sulzer's campaign contributions, has been requested of the district attorneys of New York and Albany counties by Lynn J. Arnold, of Albany, an ardent Sulzer supporter.

The indictment of the three leaders is asked on statements of many persons, presented by Judge Arnold to the district attorneys, regarding an alleged conspiracy to put Sulzer out of the Governor's chair. In so announcing Judge Arnold repeated his declaration that money had been freely used to accomplish this result.
